CHICAGO'S "ARCH CRIMINAL" SLAIN BY HIS ENEMIES

ANNIVERSARY OF ARMISTICE IS OBSERVED

Every Community To-day Honored Heroes of World Conflict

A patriotic program at the G. A. R. hall at 10:30 o'clock, which culminated in silent prayer, with all present facing east, at 11 o'clock was the main feature of the celebration of Armistice Day in Dixon. All of the patriotic organizations in the city took part in the exercises, which were conducted under the auspices of the Auxiliary of the American Legion.

The rain, which started falling in the morning and continued intermittently until noon, with every indication of "keeping at it" all day, interfered with the plans many of Dixon's business and professional men had made for spending the half-holiday—practically all of the stores closing at noon for the day. Banks and country and city officials were closed all day and holiday regulations were observed at the post office.

AT "UNKNOWN'S" SHRINE
By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, Nov. 11.—The capital's celebration today in the nationwide celebration of Armistice Day centered, as heretofore, about the tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington National Cemetery. In addition numerous patriotic exercises similar to those in other cities, were arranged by various organizations and foreign groups and the day also marked the opening of the annual roll call of the American Red Cross.

The Unknown Soldier's tomb was the shrine for many pilgrimages, led by the annual visit of the President in accordance with a custom established by President Harding. Only a few high in official life, including Secretary Wilbur and Dwight Davis, acting secretary of war, as representatives of the two military branches of the government were invited to accompany Mr. Coolidge on his simple mission of homage.

Services in memory of Woodrow Wilson in the National Cathedral, where he is buried, were arranged by the committee who, prior to his death, took charge of the Armistice Day pilgrimages to his home in 8, Street.

None of the departments closed for the day, President Coolidge having found that he lacked authority to declare a holiday in the absence of action by congress.

Eight Veteran Elks in National Home Dead as Result of Poisoning
By Associated Press Leased Wire

ECLIPSE OF SUN
JANUARY 24 CAN
BE SEEN IN U. S.

Moon to Pass Between Earth and Old Sol; to Shut Off Light.

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 11.—For a few minutes on the morning of January 24 next, the moon will get between the earth and the sun and cut off all the light from that body. This eclipse will be visible in the United States, and it is doubtless will be seen by more millions of people than any such occurrence in the past, according to Professor E. W. Brown, of Yale University.

An eclipse is not a rare event, one or two occur every year, but the next January is notable for the fact that it occurs in a territory from which the light of the sun has not been wholly obscured by the moon within the memory of any one living. "If we look over the records of past eclipses," professor Brown said, "and the predictions for future eclipses we soon see that in any one place there will be a total eclipse of the sun only once in every few years. The coming eclipse will produce darkness over a narrow band of territory which stretches from a point somewhat west of Duluth and, after crossing northern Michigan and Wisconsin, is seen in Connecticut and then passes out to sea. The hour of the phenomenon is between nine and nine-thirty, eastern standard time."

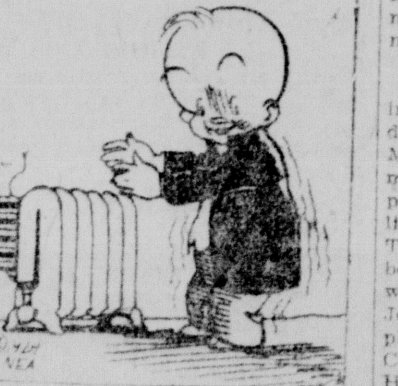

There was an eclipse in 1919, visible in Brazil and Central West Africa, and another last September seen by people of California and Northern Mexico.

The accuracy with which the time and position can be predicted for an eclipse is high, Professor Brown went on to say. The staff of the United States Naval Observatory at Washington is always at work calculating the positions of the heavenly bodies years in advance in order that the

CAMPAIGN FOR CIVIC MUSIC ASSN. IS ON
Several Organizations of City Have Enlisted in Drive.

The Civic Music Association campaign for membership is hitting on all cylinders today with over forty workers helping to reach the membership mark before Saturday night of this week when the membership closes for one year. Approval has been evinced on all sides for this plan of bringing the world's best music to Dixon by means of a Civic Music Association. The Civic Music Association plan is purely a co-operative one from which no profit will be derived by any club or organization and every dollar paid into the association will be spent for the world's best talent to be brought to Dixon. The membership in the Association will only be open this week and after Saturday at midnight no one can join, the Association for another year. There will be no single admissions sold for any of the concerts during the winter and only members of the Civic Music Association can attend. The plan was presented before the P. E. O. club, the Peoria reading club and others yesterday and today was presented before the American Legion in the morning and the Kiwanis club at noon.

Several Chairmen Named.
The organizations so far completed includes the following chairmen under the direction of Mrs. A. F. Moore; Miss Fannie Murphy, general chairman, Mrs. E. A. Siskles, speaking appointments, Mrs. H. C. Warner publicity, Mrs. W. H. Coppins, talent. The following precincts have already been organized and Mrs. H. U. Reed well has charge of the first, Mrs. John Crabtree, the second, Miss Josephine Nichols, the third, Mrs. W. H. Coppins, the tenth, and Mrs. W. D. Hart the eleventh.

The rest of the precincts will be organized today and a meeting of all the workers will be held at the Chamber of Commerce Wednesday evening at seven thirty for the purpose of making a check on the progress of the first few days.

Headquarters for the campaign will be located at the Chamber of Commerce for the week and a committee will be on hand to take the membership there.

Misses Bernice Shrelser and Gertrude Seaback and Leon Beck motor to Naperville, Sunday where Mrs. Shrelser is attending Northwestern College.

CLINTON LEGION COMES SUNDAY TO
"SMOTHER" DIXON

Hardest Game of Fall is Expected By Risley and His Men.

After holding the Dubuque Bears, aspirants to the football championship of Iowa, to a tight contest last Sunday, the Dixon Legion on next Sunday will have as their opponents the rebuilt Clinton Legion, eleven, now one of the strongest contenders for the Iowa championship. This promises to be the biggest game of the season here and the management of the Iowa team today over long distance telephone notified Business Manager Jones of the Dixon Legion that between 500 and 1000 Clinton fans would accompany the team.

Last Sunday the Clinton Legion lacked the Spring Valley Wild Cats and won by a score of 3 to 2. When the latter team appeared here a few weeks ago, Dixon won from them by a 10 to 7 count. Risley too saving the day. Belting's toe made it a victory for Clinton last Sunday.

Big Dixon Center Missing
The big center for the local Legion, appears to have departed for parts unknown without giving any notice of his leaving. There are rumors that he returned to his home in Cornell, Ia., and would not appear in a Legion uniform again this season.

However, Coach Risley had adopted a watchful waiting policy in hope of receiving some word from him late today or tomorrow. In the event that he does not report, it will be up to Bert Whitcombe to hold down the center position, at which place he made a good showing Sunday.

Wise will probably be out of the Clinton-Dixon Legion contest and it may fall to "Steady" Helge or Johnny Downs to carry the left end. Wise is suffering with water on the left knee as the result of injuries sustained in Sunday's game against Dubuque. He is resting up this week, trying to get in shape to work in part of Sunday's game.

The Legion will present a high class entertainment on Thanksgiving and it was announced this morning that contracts have been signed for the appearance of the Elgin Legion squad here on that date. Elgin has reorganized this fall and added some new faces which "Butch" Whipple has gathered together.

Herbert Wilson of North Carolina, has enrolled for the full course of study at the Dixon Business College.

Ripe Strawberries on

William Nixon Happy
Will Nixon picked ripe strawberries from his garden on West Third street Sunday. Aside from finding several large, luscious, ripe berries, he reports that there are several green ones of good size which probably will not ripen. This is a new record for this fruit crop in this locality.

NOTED SPEAKER TO ADDRESS BIG FARMER BANQUET

Committee in Charge is Making Big Plans for Monday's Affair.

From the way cards were pouring into the Chamber of Commerce office this morning there will be many visitors in Dixon on next Monday night to attend the Farmer's Banquet given by members of the Dixon Chamber of Commerce and other citizens of Dixon. The committee in charge is working hard to complete all of the details so that all of the honored guests—the farmers of Lee, Ogles, and Whiteside counties will enjoy themselves.

Lewis Pitcher of the committee who has charge of the entertainment announced this morning that he had secured a speaker of national reputation, a man that is known throughout the world, one of the most widely quoted poets and philosophers of the American press, Douglas Malloch of Chicago, past president of the Chicago Press Club and one of the American Press Club.

Is Popular Speaker.
Possibly no poet or speaker has gained the popularity in such a short time as Douglas Malloch. This rapid growing popularity is due to the fact that he not only interprets nature but he also interprets life. There have been poets who sang of trees, grass and flowers but Malloch gives his readers the men and women of the world as well. Malloch knows rural life and expresses life in such a manner that he holds the attention and respect of all classes of people. Malloch will be found to resemble in many ways his beloved woods and woodsmen—six feet tall, angular and awkward, but with a sunny personality, a clear vision and unquenchable optimism.

He not only makes men laugh, but

HARRIS' STRATEGY
IN FINAL PLANNED
BEFORE IT BEGAN

Inside Story of Washington Manager's Plan Is Told.

New York, Nov. 11.—(By The Associated Press.)—The psychology employed by Manager Stanley Harris of the Washington Americans in handling his pitchers in the final game of the 1924 world's series, which has been the subject of much speculation ever since, was revealed today by a member of the Washington team close to Harris.

The number of innings each one of the four pitchers who participated in the game was to work and the exact time of their entrance and departure were outlined by Harris before the teams took the field, according to the informant. And this schedule was followed to the letter except for two circumstances, one of which was the fact that the game went into extra innings.

The other exception was in the case of "Curley" Ogden, the young pitcher who was started on the mound for the Senators. According to Harris' plans Ogden was to pitch to but one man, Lindstrom, and then he was to be relegated to the bench, but Ogden, anxious to make good, fanned Lindstrom, thereby giving Harris no legitimate excuse for yanking him.

Ogden Fooled Harris.
According to the man who tells the story, Harris then walked to the mound.

"My arm is feeling fine and my curve ball has got the old hop," pleaded Ogden to Harris. "Let me stay in."

"I can't very well take you out now," said Harris, "but the minute you get into trouble, out you go." Frisch, the next man up walked and without even a glance at Harris, Ogden walked too. McGraw took his place there to stay until McGraw shifted his team and took out his left-handed hitters.

It was Terry, Giant first baseman, who threw the scare into Harris and caused him to resort to this strategy.

It Worked Perfectly.
Fans will remember that when McGraw sent in a pinch hitter to swing for Terry in the last game, Harris dispatched Marberry to the mound. The latter was scheduled to stay until the ninth when Johnson, with orders to put everything he had into every pitch, was to come in when the sun

Prevented by Order
San Francisco, Calif., Nov. 10.—After he had been decorated with $718.08 worth of air mail stamps in anticipation of an air mail trip to New York, Chester N. Weaver, San Francisco automobile dealer, was "barred from the mail" today by a ruling from Paul Henderson, second assistant postmaster general.

Mr. Weaver was rejected as a piece of human mail when a telegram was received by James E. Power, San Francisco postmaster, from the second assistant postmaster general saying "that no body is to ride in air mail except department officials."

COUNTERFEITING OF GOVT. BONDS
IN CHI. CHARGED

Warrants Issued To-day for Ben Newmark, Ten Others.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Chicago, Nov. 11.—Ben Newmark, assistant state fire marshal, who was jailed on a charge of contempt in connection with the trial two years ago of Governor Len Small at Vaucluse, was sought today by Federal agents on warrants charging counterfeiting Liberty Bonds and Treasury Savings Stamps.

With him were named ten others, two of them women. Seventy other Chicagoans, many of them prominent, were said by federal agents to be involved in counterfeiting operations which affected banks here, in New York and in Omaha.

William Keith, attorney; R. A. Stubbs, bond and insurance broker; J. R. McDonald, R. E. Manley, Wm. W. Zizzo, Daniel Ambrose, Sam Gorgolione, Herbert C. Schmidt, Mrs. Laura E. Schmidt and Miss Frances Wagoner were listed in the warrants sworn out by Captain Thomas I. Porter, middlewest secret service chief.

Seven of the defendants have been arrested and four, including Newmark were at large today, operatives said.

The alleged counterfeiting, federal agents said, was of a $5 war revenue stamp, issued in 1918 and payable in January 1924. The bogus stamps were perfectly designed and not until $200,000 worth had been cashed in Chicago was the counterfeiting discovered.

More than half a million dollars worth of the stamps have been cashed, secret service men estimated. This amount represented only the stamps returned as counterfeit to the government agents.

Several hundred thousands dollars worth have been cashed in the New York postoffice, New York banks and middle western banks as far as Omaha, detectives said.

Secret service men expressed confidence that the plates from which the stamps were made would be recovered today.

Former Dixon Woman Summoned in Chicago

Mrs. Mary Metcalf, formerly of this city, died suddenly at the home of her daughter in Chicago last night. Word was received today by her sister, Mrs. Rose Kelly. The body will be brought to Dixon tomorrow and funeral services will be conducted from St. Patrick's church at 10:30 o'clock with interment in Oakwood. The funeral party will arrive in Dixon at 10:10 and go directly to the church for the services. Requiem high mass will be celebrated, Rev. Fr. Foley officiating. She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Mabelle Sarvatic.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Heck entertained Mr. and Mrs. Earl Schaefer and sister, and Mr. and Mrs. Dave Moore of South Dixon, Sunday.

Had set and the shadows made his fast even more deceptive.

This strategy worked perfectly. McGraw had shifted his team to combat McGraw and Terry was out, ineligible to return. Johnson's entrance into the game was a dramatic incident.

The score was tied, the bases clean and Walter was "on his own." To win meant regaining his prestige, lost when he was beaten twice by the Giants. To lose meant absolute failure; but Walter arose to the occasion and came through.

George Kelly, Giant first baseman and a dangerous hitter at all times, said after the game that on his two trips to the plate, when Johnson was pitching, he swung at six balls which he didn't even see, so blind was the veteran's speed.

GANGSTER IS SHOT IN HIS FLOWER SHOP

Murder Most Carefully Planned; Police Admit His Badness

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Chicago, Nov. 11.—Gang rivalry, beer runners' feuds, gambling troubles and a fight of lieutenants of rival gangs over a woman, were theories followed by police today in their search for the three men who yesterday shot and killed Dion O'Bannon, notorious gunman and gangster, in his florist shop.

While they sought Mike Carrozo, labor leader, and Margaret Collins, pretty blonde, involved in a fight eight months ago with Louis Altieri and John Bates, alleged lieutenants of O'Bannon, the police took precautions to prevent more killings in reprisal.

Questioned His Enemies
All known enemies of O'Bannon questioned after the shooting, had been released today when they satisfied investigators they had no connection with it. But as police inquiry progressed it was disclosed that more than the three men who fled after firing seven bullets into O'Bannon have been involved in the actual slaying.

A theory that possibly 28 men, using nine automobiles, effectively blocked traffic in the vicinity of the florist shop while the slayers escaped in their automobile was evolved after the witnesses were questioned. The blocking automobiles, given scant attention at the time, paused at street intersections only long enough to permit the three men to speed away, the hypothesis held.

Satisfied in His Death
Throughout the night detectives and state's attorneys questioned suspects, later releasing them. Among the questioned were Herschels, Max and Dave Miller, all sworn enemies of O'Bannon. While they expressed satisfaction at his death, they denied O'Bannon had been accused of bombing Herschels Miller's dry cleaning plant and of attempting to shoot to death Herschels and Dave in front of a downtown theatre.

Earl Weiss, John Torrio, Vincent Drucos, Altieri and "Yankee" Schwartz, all frequently questioned in connection with hi-jacking and beer running troubles, were questioned and freed.

Seek Missing Chauffeur
Search today also was made for Davis Loftis, chauffeur at the flower shop, who commandeered an automobile and pursued the slayers yesterday and had not been seen since.

Morgan A. Collins, police chief, declared the death of O'Bannon rid Chicago of "its arch criminal."

"I don't doubt that O'Bannon was responsible for at least 25 murders in this city," Chief Collins said.

"The city in general and the police department in particular can give a deep sigh of relief."

Often under suspicion and questioned in connection with killings, O'Bannon never was tried for murder. Occasionally when he was named in connection with a killing, he would appear voluntarily.

"Why, I'm a florist" he would say, "I've ever been in the booze racket, I'm out now."

Claimed He Was "Florist"
That was his statement when he was questioned in connection with the deaths of Maybelle Duffy and John Duffy, whose bodies were found in a flat and on a road within a few hours of each other. Similar statements were his when authorities asked him about the deaths of a score of alleged beer runners and gunmen at various times.

Around the corner where he met death, O'Bannon sold papers as a boy of ten. A short time later he received an injury that crippled him for life. When beer running and liquor selling supplanted gambling concessions as gang activities, O'Bannon rose to prominence because of a marksmanship he perfected by shooting at door

Is Today Your Birth Anniversary?

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 11—Pay particular attention to your personal appearance, and above all cultivate a sense of humor.

You are by no means an idle dreamer, though you build air castles with the greatest pleasure. You have a fine nature, frank, open and true, but you despise hypocrisy so deeply that you are often led to say things that make enemies for you. You are literary inclined, you will doubtless travel extensively. Persons born on this date often have weak lungs. Though few realize it, what extent their physical make-up is endangered. You should be out of doors as much as possible and take plenty of exercise.

Will Protect Old Tree of Indians at Sycamore

At the last meeting of the Izaak Walton League of Sycamore it was decided that a marker should be placed on the trail tree which is standing near the public highway three miles from Sycamore in close proximity to Lloyd's woods.

The tree is one of the few of that nature which remain about this part of the country. Bent, presumably by the Indians in order to mark the direction of a trail, the tree has grown and is considered a curiosity. It is probable that a metal tablet of some kind will be obtained and erected either on or near the tree in order to insure it against road builders of some future date.

Council Meeting Will be Held Tomorrow Eve

The regular weekly session of the city council was postponed from this evening until Wednesday evening on account of today being Armistice Day, a legal holiday in Illinois.

ENTHUSIASM IN REVIVAL SHOWS SERVICE SUCCESS

Slater Revival Continues to Produce Expected Results.

(Contributed.)

Sunday's enthusiasm in the Christian church revival was carried over into last night's service. There was good attendance and keen interest in Mr. Slater's sermon on "The Divine Appointment." Mrs. Reagan led the congregation in a spirited but devotional song service. The pastor reported an inspiring fellowship with the Moline church over Sunday, and eager inquiries from the church there as to the welfare of their minister and the success of the Dixon meetings. Mr. Slater and three from the Dixon church, Misses Kost, H. Stauffer and Cleaver drove to Rock Island early yesterday morning, to attend a Missionary Rally there, and brought back Mr. Cleaver with them. The Rev. Frank Brandeliner was called on last night for a word of exhortation and fellowship, and replied in cordial spirit, stressing three words of importance in Christian service: Integrity, Responsibility and Possibility. Mrs. C. L. King gave a beautiful rendering of a variation of "Jesus, Lover of My Soul."

Mr. Slater's subject was introduced by the text, "God appointed us not unto wrath, but unto the obtaining of salvation through our Lord Jesus Christ" (I. Thess. 5:9). The mercy and long-suffering of God were emphasized, and the divine purpose of man's redemption, rather than man's punishment, was explained. "Condemnation," he said, "is outside God's plan. His designs and arrangements all look in the direction of a saved race."

"But of course He requires the co-operation and allegiance of mankind in this effort. You and I as parents purpose nothing else than the highest success and worthiness for our children; but we cannot produce this of ourselves. Neither can nor will God do for us without our participation the good things that are held out to us."

"Why are other appointments so much less important welcomed and sought for by men, when this one, the greatest of the ages, is let go unaccepted? The text, take notice, does not assert that the appointment is for salvation, but for the obtaining of salvation. The means of obtaining it is through Christ. Beware of false teachings that substitute something else for Christ. Ethical growth and soul quickening are helpful, but insufficient without the Redeemer. Our religion must have in it the cross and the blood of Christ. Jesus is still the way of His name the only name."

Today visitors from twenty-one Christian churches of this section are in attendance at the "Boundary-line Conference," which opened at ten o'clock. The night session will be merged with the revival, an address by Dr. Peters of Bloomington, well known in Dixon, preceding Mr. Slater's evangelistic sermon. This session will begin at seven-thirty, and all are welcome. The revival begins the second week tonight, and will continue over next Sunday, with preaching each evening at seven-thirty o'clock.

SIMPLICITY TO MARK FUNERAL OF SEN. LODGE

Military Escort for Dead Senator is Not Probable.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Boston, Mass., Nov. 11.—Simplicity will be observed at the funeral tomorrow of Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, in accordance with the family's wishes.

President Coolidge directed that of fliers in command of military units here do all possible to carry out the wishes of Senator Lodge's relatives. "It was said to be improbable that military escorts would be accepted, however. As representatives of the President, Secretary of State Hughes, Secretary of War Weeks and Captain Andrews, naval aide to the President, will attend. There will be delegations from the senate and house.

Governor Cox and a delegation of the legislature will represent the state. A suggestion by the governor that the body be placed in the state house to lie in state until the hour of the funeral services was not acted on by the family.

Today friends who wished to pay their last tribute went to the home of Dr. William S. Bigelow, life long friend of Senator Lodge, to which the body was taken from the hospital where the senator died.

Mrs. Harding Hovers Near Eternity Today

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Marion, O., Nov. 11.—Mrs. Warren G. Harding was reported as hovering between life and death today by her physician, Dr. Carl W. Sawyer, who reported her condition as unchanged from yesterday. Little hope was held for her recovery.

While mistress of the White House, Mrs. Harding, with her husband, inaugurated the custom of visiting the tomb of the Unknown Soldier on each Armistice Day, and she had been looking forward to celebrating the signing of the Armistice again today, her friends said.

Dr. Sawyer's daily bulletin on his patient's condition follows: "Mrs. Harding had a poor night. She feels weak and exhausted this morning. Her general condition is not so good."

Statistics show that there was a shipwreck at sea last year.

NOTED SPEAKER TO ADDRESS BIG FARMER BANQUET

has written many poems that have makes them think and in addition, taken a prominent place in the literature of the people, and he interprets them in an entertaining way. While a humorist, he has a message of serious value. It has been said of him that he has not made presidents, but that he has done something better—he has made presidents laugh.

All those who attend the Farmers banquet next Monday night can be assured that they will hear a man who knows life, who understands their problems and makes everyone happy by his continual outburst of optimism.

His poem "today" is possibly the best known poem and is more frequently quoted than any other poem that has ever been published. It is a poem expressed in simple language that appeals to every-day life.

It is optimism that makes "today" appeal. The poem has been published in every country in the world and through its travels has suffered some changes but here is the correct version of this homopun classic.

Today,
Sure, this world is full of trouble—
I ain't said it ain't.
Lord! I've reason enough, an' double,
Reason for complaint.
Rain an' storm have come to fret me,
Sikes were often gray;
Thorns an' brambles have beset me
On the road—but, say,
Ain't it fine today!

What's the use of always weepin',
Makin' trouble last?
What's the use of always keepin'
Thinkin' of the past?
Each must have his tribulation,
Water with his wine;
Life it ain't no celebration,
Trouble? I've had mine—
But today is fine.

It's today that I am livin'
Not a month ago,
Havin' losin', takin', givin',
As time wills it so.
Yesterday a cloud of sorrow
Fell across the way;
It may rain again tomorrow,
It may rain—but, say,
Ain't it fine today!

ENRAGED BULL WRECKED SIGN, PORCH, TRUCK

Stockton People Imperilled By Mad Bovine Monday.

Freeport, Ill.—How a great bull weighing nearly a ton, terrorized the town of Stockton, was told by Stocktonites visiting Freeport today.

The animal, owned by an association of farmers, was being led from a barn in Stockton to a farm a short distance from the town limits, when suddenly, at sight of a lurid billboard beside the road, it tore loose from the harness with which it was being led, head down and bellowing in a terrifying way, it charged the board.

There was not much of it left when Charles Simmons, who had been leading the bull, came to the scene of battle.

Good-bye House, Truck
The bull then turned against a nearby house, ripping up the porch steps.

Meantime a wrecking truck from a garage was brought up with ropes, but the bull charged the wrecker and partially demolished it.

While this was going on house-holders fled into their homes. After the bull had chased a dozen men who tried to capture it, it finally was lured into a narrow space between two buildings where it became tightly lodged. Ropes were then fastened around its head and body and it was pulled out and tighed to a tree. Half an hour later it was led away as meek as a lamb.

Fate of Mutineers Who Stole Battleship Unknown

Montevideo, Uruguay, Nov. 11.—(By The Associated Press).—The fate of the mutineers who seized command of the Brazilian battleship Sao Paulo at Rio Janeiro a week ago and steamed out of the harbor while exchanging shots with shore batteries has not yet been decided.

The Sao Paulo ended her voyage yesterday when she entered the roadstead under the Uruguayan pilot who had been sent in response to wireless messages from the battleship.

ARMED GUARDS ON ALL FREIGHT TRAINS ON "Q"

Merchandise to Be Protected from Robbers By Move.

Armed men will guard all merchandise trains out of Chicago over the Aurora division as a protection against freight car robberies, it was announced by O. H. Abbott, chief special agent on the division. A force of men is now being organized in Aurora and Chicago to carry out the work, he said.

"The plan to guard the trains," Mr. Abbott said, "has been adopted because of the large number of robberies in the last few months. Merchandise valued at thousands of dollars has been stolen. One gang of robbers was rounded up in Aurora several weeks ago, and the leaders sentenced to terms in the state's prison at Joliet."

"Armed men have heretofore been stationed only on trains carrying alcohol, silk and other merchandise of special value. An attempt to rob an alcohol train at Yates City Oct. 17, led to a gun battle in which Dave Youngren, a special agent, was wounded and William Wenzel of Peoria, one of the alleged thieves, was fatally injured.

Wenzel, 24 years old, was shot in the arm, and side and died at St. Francis hospital, Peoria, last Monday.

"Members of train crews are unable to cope with the robbers, who board the trains in the dark and are always ready to put up a battle if caught. With armed guards stationed on all of the trains, burglars will be more cautious about boarding them."

Freight car robbers work in bands, using motor trucks. Several members board the merchandise train in the middle of the night and break into the cars by tearing off the ends. At a specified spot in the country they throw boxes of merchandise off the train. It is picked up there by other members of the gang, loaded in a motor truck and hauled away. Many times members of the train crew do not know that a robbery is being committed. With armed guards riding the trains and on constant lookout, officials believe that the robber gangs can be broken up.

ANNUAL EXHIBIT OF LIVESTOCK TO BE BIGGEST

Congress Has Aided By Authorizing Special Awards.

The management of the International Live Stock Exposition is making great preparations for the staging of the quarter-centennial celebration of this world-famous educational institution at the Chicago Stock Yards, Nov. 29 to Dec. 6. From advance indications, this will be the largest gathering of the agricultural interests of America ever brought together and many special occasions will mark this history-making event.

Every one interested in any way in the basic industry should make a special effort to attend this great round-up of the agrarian resources of the continent and enjoy a week of pleasure and profit at the metropolis.

In commemoration of the importance of this event, Congress, by special act, has authorized the United States Department of Agriculture to award official medals to all winners of first prizes and championships in the live stock competitions at the coming show.

The Department itself will fill an entire exhibit hall with a display of its various lines of activity. President Coolidge and other high government officials are expected to be present during the Exposition.

The International Live Stock Exposition will be "international" in character as well as in name. In addition to the Canadian exhibits and delegations, several foreign countries are expected to be represented. Three live stock judges are coming from Great Britain and one from the Argentine to act as arbiters in the various contests among breeders and fanners.

Brilliant evening entertainments will be held each night in the arena, featuring a society horse show and a program of exciting and entertaining events. There will be something of interest and value during the International for every member of the family both urban and rural dwellers. Reduced railroad rates will be in effect during the week of the show.

75 LEE COUNTY BOYS AND GIRLS SUBMIT ESSAYS

Contest of Farm Bureau Closed Monday Evening.

At least 75 essays have been submitted in the essay contest conducted by the Farm Bureau of Lee County. In looking over the essays Farm Adviser Griffith said today, "A number of the essays are written in a clear, intelligent, and well founded knowledge of the activities of the Lee County Farm Bureau." The subjects for the essay contest were, "Why Dad is a Farm Bureau Member" or "Why Dad Should Be a Farm Bureau Member." It was a noticeable fact that some of the boys and girls did have a very clear conception of the real work of the Farm Bureau. Others were thoroughly acquainted with the principles of the farmers organization.

Essays to Compete in State
The best essay in the county will be submitted for competition in the state contest for liberal prizes, and also in the national contest for a trip to Chicago during the first week in December. Names of prize winners in Lee County will be announced through this paper, and one or two of the best essays will also be published.

Enjoys Hearing Dixon Folks Radio Programs

In renewing her subscription to The Evening Telegraph, Mrs. Charles F. Schick writes from Lark, North Dakota: "We are enjoying fine weather and have the pleasure of listening to radio artists from Dixon occasionally when they broadcast from Chicago stations. Just recently listened to A. M. Rawls of Dixon. Program came in just wonderful. Enjoyed the election returns over the radio and was pleased with the result of the ballot. Glad to say that the Socialist movement in North Dakota is fast becoming a dead issue, for which, indeed, we are truly thankful. We wonder why Dixon can't have a broadcasting station. Many cities not have radio stations than our home town have radio stations and send out wonderful programs and we would certainly be pleased beyond measure to be able to tune in on them and hear what the home folks were doing."

Rock Island woman Had Nail Taken from Lungs

Mrs. H. F. Pennington, resident at the Rock Island arsenal, submitted to an operation at the university hospital in Iowa City for the removal of a nail from one of her lungs last week. The operation was successful and unless unforeseen developments bring worse conditions, there will be no bad effects from her accident.

While hanging curtains in her home October 30, Mrs. Pennington held in her mouth one of the small nails she was using in curtain brackets. Annoyed by a fly she turned to strike at it, and while in that act she swallowed the nail. It went through her windpipe into her lung.

As there was no great irritation in the lung the conclusion was that the nail had passed to the stomach. After a few days an X-ray was taken in the arsenal hospital, and the nail was disclosed lodged in the lung. Mrs. Pennington was taken to Iowa City for the surgical operation.

Mr. Pennington is a warrant officer at the arsenal. Mrs. Pennington is past chief of Rock Island temple, Pythian Sisters.

Old Coins Found in Box in Sheffield Excavation

While removing a large boulder from an excavation he is making for Leon Levy on Illinois avenue, in Sheffield, William Elchekraut, an Ottawa contractor, unearthed a small iron box which was badly rusted. As he tossed it aside coins flew in all directions. Three $20 gold pieces, each bearing the date of 1830, and one $5 gold piece dated in 1832, were in the collection. No one has been able to learn who buried the money. Contractor Elchekraut is steward for the money until some one appears with a valid claim.

predictions may be useful. The northern and southern areas of the shadow, hence, when the almanac predicts that the southern edge will cross the upper end of Central Park in New York City it is fairly certain that the shadow will not keep off the grass. All this knowledge, however, is not a product of the present generation. It has been slowly accumulating through many centuries. Most of it is due to the proof of the law of gravitation which was given by Isaac Newton toward the end of the 17th century.

Homage to Pioneers.
"But we have to pay our homage to observers for their industry much further back than that," the professor continued. "More than 2500 years ago the Chaldeans were able to predict when eclipses would occur, because they had learned that there is a long series of them repeated in a little over 18 years. It is remarkable that they should have been able to get this knowledge because eclipses do not cover quite the same part of the earth's surface as the corresponding one which occurred 18 years before. They must have kept records over at least a century, perhaps over many centuries, before the cycle was discovered. The eclipse of next January will be seen by millions of people. In the map which has been issued by the naval observatory it is seen that the southern boundary of the band over the sun will be totally eclipsed just covers Duluth, Minn., Menominee, Mich., Frankfort, Mich., Dunkirk, N. Y., Wilkes Barre, Pa., and New York City north of Central Park. Well inside the northern edge are Manistique, Mich., Toronto, Ont., Auburn, Hudson, N. Y., New Bedford, Mass., while a mile or two outside are Syracuse, N. Y., Springfield, Mass., and Providence, R. I."

The observations which are bound to be made by the observatories within the region of totality are not yet fully known. Some of them will describe the brief two minutes during which the eclipse lasts to photograph that marvelous fringe of light which is never seen except at a total eclipse, is known as the corona. Others will try to get accurate positions of the moon and also photographs of it so that its shape and size shall be better known.

Professor Brown is chairman of a committee appointed by the American Astronomical Society to inform the public concerning this eclipse.

WORK—
Let me but do my work from day to day,
In field or forest, at the desk or loom,
By roaring market-place or tranquil
Let me but find it my heart to say,
When vagrant wishes beckon me astray,
"This is my work; my blessing not my doom;
Of all who live, I am the one by whom
This work can best be done in the right way."

Then shall I see it not too great nor small,
To suit my spirit and to prove my powers;
Then shall I cheerful greet the laboring hours,
And cheerful turn, when the long shadows fall.
At eventide, to play and love and rest,
Because I know for me my know is best.
—Henry Van Dyke.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS—
Sleeve Protectors.
The legs of old stockings make good sleeve protectors when you are doing dirty work.

For Stiffening.
Gum arabic is preferable to starch for stiffening faces, thin silks and hark colored fabrics. It is used in the proportion of one tablespoonful to the powdered gum in three quarts of water.

To Clean Mattress.
Use the vacuum cleaner frequently on the mattress to insure its freedom from dust.
Use Alcohol.
You can clean soiled photographs by sponging very lightly with a bit of absorbing cotton wet with alcohol. Let it dry by evaporation.

To Keep Pastry.
Left over pie crust or pastry should be rolled in cheesecloth wrung dry out of cold water and kept in the refrigerator. It will be good for a week or more.
To Mend Hole.
When a hole appears in a rag carpet caused by the breaking of the warp you can mend it by stitching back and forth on the sewing machine.

Save Your Hands.
Wear loose cotton gloves when doing your sweeping or dusting and save your hands from the fine dust which is so difficult to remove if it gets ground up into the flesh.

QUALITIES THAT LIVE—
The best portion of a good man's life—his little, nameless, unremembered acts of kindness and love.—Wordsworth.

Menus for a Family

Tested by SISTER MARY.

Breakfast—Shredded oranges, cereal with thin cream, omelet, hashed brown potatoes, cornmeal muffins, quince honey, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—Fish chowder, lettuce sandwiches, tapioca Indian pudding, milk, tea.

Dinner—Casserole of lamb, parsnip fritters, curly endive with bacon dressing, whole wheat bread raisin pie, milk, coffee.

Children under school age may have the vegetables from the casserole of lamb, some of the finely minced tender leaves of the endive and some of the raisins from the pie for their dinner. A little of the lamb may be given to them but is not necessary as their hearty meal was provided at noon time.

Children of four or five years who do not eat heartily should be given a glass of orange juice or an apple with one or two pieces of crisp toast during the morning and again during the afternoon. The fruit acts as a stimulant to the appetite as well as furnishing the very important vitamins.

Very often children of school age need an afternoon lunch. Especially if the dinner hour is late. Fruit with a sandwich or a small glass of milk with a sandwich is an ideal sort of "tea" for them.

Fish Chowder.
Two pounds cod or haddock, 2 cups potatoes cut in inch cubes, 1 medium sized onion, 2 slices salt pork cut 1/2 inch thick, 2 cups milk, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, 1/2 cup finely diced carrots.

The fish should be skinned. If bones are not removed, pull from flesh, cover with cold water and simmer twenty minutes. Strain and use in place of plain water to cook the fish. Cut fish in small pieces. Fry fat from salt pork, skim out meat and add onion cut in thin slices. Cook over a slow fire until the onions are a pale straw color. Add fish and 2 cups boiling water or fish stock and simmer fifteen minutes. Add potatoes and carrots and cook twenty minutes or until tender. Season with pepper and salt if necessary. Add milk and bring to the boiling point but do not let boil. Moisten soda crackers in cold milk and put in a soup tureen. Pour over chowder and serve. Add boiling water as necessary during the cooking of the fish and vegetables, keeping enough water to cover them but no more.

Tapioca Indian Pudding.
Four tablespoons minute tapioca, 5 cups milk, two-thirds cup molasses, 4 tablespoons sugar, 4 tablespoons corn meal, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 teaspoon salt.

Cover tapioca with milk and let stand ten minutes. Soak 4 cups of milk and slowly pour over cornmeal, stirring constantly. Cook ten minutes in double boiler. Add molasses, sugar, butter and salt and tapioca. Turn out in a well buttered baking dish and pour over remaining cold milk. Bake 1 1/2 hours in a moderate oven. Do not stir the cold milk into the pudding. Serve with cream.

The supper was served by the men themselves assisted by a group of young ladies of the church as waitresses, and the menu was ample and well prepared. Conversations were held for fifty men. Miss Dorothy Vaughn sang a soprano solo. Mrs. Charles Diehl playing her accompaniment. Rev. Frank A. Campbell was the principal speaker.

Following the program an election of officers was held resulting as follows: Floyd J. Bienfang, president; A. M. Zimmerman, vice president; Clarence Oakes, secretary; Howard Cooper, treasurer.

The success of the banquet was largely due to H. C. Clawson, chairman, assisted by F. J. Bienfang, A. M. Gohl, Norman Olson, W. B. Rankin, D. W. Taylor, A. M. Zimmerman, John Maxson.

Two hundred were served at the reception at the Methodist Church in honor of their new pastor, Thursday evening. Rev. S. S. Langdon, Mrs. Langdon, Rev. Frank Campbell, and Rev. Nazarine were among the speakers.

Fred E. Gardner officiated as emcee.

GOPHERS, BUCKS TO BE BIG TEST FOR THE ILLINI

No Over-Confidence is Evident Among Men of Zuppke.

Urbana, Ill.—Minnesota and Ohio are two football foes who will tax the skill and strength of the Illini on the next two Saturdays. This is the prevalent opinion in the Illini camp where Bob Zuppke is putting on the final touches for the engagement in the Gopher stadium.

Big Bernie Shively has been favored in practice this week as a possible starter at guard in place of Louis Slimmer. Shively, it is felt, had not been injured early in the season, would have developed into an excellent lineman. He helped to plug up the holes in the Stagg field game last Saturday when he was inserted the second half. It looks as if "Zup" would not make any other changes.

Wallie McIlwain's hand is still swathed in bandages and the chances are that the reliable Emil Schultz will replace him, at the start at least. Schultz played a pretty good game against the Maroons.

It is safe bet that the Illini will invade Minneapolis keyed up to put in their best ticks. It will be a case of nothing to lose and everything to gain for the Gophers and reports are that they will make a strenuous effort to repulse Illinois.

UNFINISHED BUSINESS.

President Coolidge's address to congress next month will probably deal very largely with what might well be called "unfinished business," for, as everybody knows, congress did not give attention to all his recommendations submitted to the last session. During the recent campaign the charge was frequently made by opposition parties that President
Coolidge had little legislation to his credit.
The fact was that President Coolidge had made some definite recommendations but, owing to a coalition between democrats and radical republicans, some of these recommendations were ignored and others defeated by obstructive tactics.

Among the recommendations which he made and which were favorably acted upon were provision for temporary operation of the merchant marine by the government until a plan for private operation can be adopted, the submission of the child labor amendment, the strengthening of the immigration restriction law, reduction of taxes, and reduction of appropriations.

The president recommended continued independence from the league of nations but entry into the world court. The traditional policy on the league was continued, but no action was taken on the world court.

He recommended legislation for the reorganization of the foreign service, and this was adopted, with prospect of great improvement through the brighter prospects offered for men who enter that service.

He recommended provision for more effective enforcement of the prohibition law,
and this was granted.

He recommended enactment of the general features of a plan for reorganization of the executive departments, but no action was taken.

He recommended that the Muscle Shoals property be ordered sold, but this recommendation was not followed.

One of the live subjects of discussion at the last session of congress was the status of agriculture. President Coolidge opposed various paternalistic schemes that were being advanced, asserting that "No complicated scheme of relief, no plan for government fixing of prices, no resort to the public treasury, will be of any permanent value in establishing agriculture. Simple and direct methods put into operation by the farmer himself are the only real sources for restoration." He favored a reorganization of the freight rate structure, co-operative organizations, and more diversification, as a means of relief. The great improvement in the agricultural situation, without any paternalistic legislation having been enacted, seems to bear out the Coolidge view of a wise policy. It is not to be expected, therefore, that in his message to the next session he will vary from that policy.

Among the other subjects concerning which President Coolidge recommended legislation but upon which no action was taken were the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence waterway improvement, placing of first, second and third class postmasters under the civil service law, abolition of the right to issue tax-exempt securities, revision of the laws governing procedure of the federal trade commission, revision of the laws regulating radio interference, and strengthening of the laws for the conservation of our Alaskan fisheries.

FOR EDUCATIONAL PROMOTION.

The United States bureau of education, in co-operation with the American Legion association, is sponsoring the week of November 17-23 as American Education week. We have our Fire Prevention week, our Paint-Up week, our Health week and many other special weeks. American Education week means one more added to those already set aside for construction endeavor.

Purpose of the coming November week is to impress upon the people of the United States the importance of education, and of calling their attention to the present condition and needs of the schools.

There are certain broad phases of education which, it is generally agreed, require emphasis from a national standpoint. Among these are respect for constituted authority, patriotism, better trained and better paid teachers, improvement of rural schools, more adequately equipped school buildings, eradication of illiteracy, and health education.

In order to give all these phases of education prominence in the week's observance it has been agreed to designate Monday, the 17th, as Constitution day; Tuesday, the 18th, as Patriotism day; Wednesday, the 19th,
School and Teacher day; Thursday, the 20th, Illiteracy day; Friday, the 21st, Physical Education day; Saturday, the 22d, Community day; Sunday, the 23d, For God and Country day.

So much for the national outline of program. Here in Dixon it would be well if a part of the week can be devoted to presenting building problems in such a way that the taxpayers may realize that expansion of Dixon's school plant is soon to be mandatory if the children of Dixon are to have the educational facilities to which they are entitled.

The problem of caring for high school enrollment is already a pressing one. The day is conceded to be not far distant when junior high schools must be provided. Enrollment problems in some of the grade buildings are just as acute.

American Education week can well be seven days devoted, here in Dixon, to the creation of a psychology that will insure success of such school bond issues as it will sometime be necessary to submit to the electorate.

"How do you do?" said the white crow.

"Don't you worry," said Mister Pim Pim, the brownie man, to the Twins. "Why it wouldn't matter if you were stuck on a mountain twice as high as this one. All I have to do is to call my million brownies and your troubles will be over."
"It's a good thing you came, that's all I've got to say," said Nancy.
"Not that Nick and I couldn't get away if we wanted to with our magic shoes 'n everything, but the House-That-Jack-Built would be too heavy for us to carry. It would just stick up here on this old mountain top forever."

Mister Pim Pim took a whistle out of his pocket and blew and blew.
At that a horde of tiny men swarmed up the sides of the mountain, making funny noises as they came.

And they picked up the House-That-Jack-Built on their shoulders as though it had been made of cardboard and shouting and singing, they bore it down a steep path with Nancy and Nick and Mister Pim Pim in the lead.

Then very gently they set it on the ground and scampered off to their hiding holes under the ground, that led to Brownieland.

"But we aren't any better off than before," said Nick. "We're still miles away from Mother Goose Land, and we can't possibly take Jack's house back to him unless we can find Daddy Gander and his magic dustpan."

"Hold on, hold on," croaked a hoarse voice down the chimney.
"I've been watching the whole affair.
I think that it is time for a wise head like mine to help you out."

"NATION MUST BE STRONG"— DRAIN

BY JAMES A. DRAIN
National Commander, The American Legion.

SIX years ago today the peoples of the world's nations rejoiced as only those who have suffered long may rejoice. Prayers—prayers full of strength and sincerity—burst from millions of throats that such a blight on the world as had just ended should never again blacken the pages of history.

Six years ago tomorrow those same people started to forget. The lessons that four years of terror, famine and heartlessness had taught began to disappear.
The price in lives to our country, almost 300,000 killed,
wounded and diseased,
was lost sight of in the rush
to regain pre-war levels.
There was excess cost in money to billions on billions.
The country had paid thus dearly for its impatience with anything resembling preparedness. That fact is unescapable.

We men of the American Legion, who know how terrible war is, count it among our blessings that ours is a peaceful nation.

We may be depended upon to help keep it at peace
by every means that fits with honor.

But we know, as none can better know, that if this nation is to protect its own life and be able to enforce its will for good upon recalcitrant nations, it must be strong, not only in purpose but in sound military preparation for the inevitable war which will some day be forced upon us.

MAIL ROBBER TO CHANGE PLEA

Chicago, Nov. 10.—Brent Glascock, alleged leader in the $2,000,000 mail train robbery at Rondout, Illinois, last June, will change his plea of guilty, his counsel told Federal Judge Cliffe today after the trial of Glascock, and others indicated in connection with the robbery, was continued until tomorrow.

Glascock, who was arrested recently in Battle Creek, Mich., and declared he knew nothing of the holdup, was brought back here and pleaded not guilty. Willis and Willie Newton, two of four Newton brothers, already have pleaded guilty. The others have denied the charge.

The trial was continued on account of illness of Edwin E. Feisel, special assistant United States District Attorney.

Radiographs

AMPLIFICATION SANS ANY DIS- TORTION GOAL

Engineers Seek Best Possible Results in New Sets.

Quality. And still better quality. This is what is demanded in a radio set today. The day has gone forever when a box which merely brings in noises out of the air can properly be called a radio set. To be worthy of the name, a set must reproduce sound naturally and faithfully; there must be pure and clear tone quality. What ever other virtues a circuit may have—volume, selectivity and range—if it lacks natural tone, it does not represent modern radio.

Radio users everywhere are putting more and more emphasis on quality. Not ever distance—which has been greatly overrated as a factor in the enjoyment of broadcast reception—can compensate for squeals and howls. The radio fan today refuses to buy anything but standard parts, and calls for the well known parts by their brand name.

The underlying cause of poor tone quality is improper amplification. To amplify is easy, but to amplify efficiently requires apparatus designed and built by specialists in both electrical engineering and sound reproduction.

The transformer is the heart of the amplifier, and it is primarily through the right kind of a transformer that amplification without distortion is secured. This is the real secret of radio tone quality. The audio-frequency amplifying transformer is the most important feature of all radio apparatus today.

As Sewall Cabot, chief research engineer of the Acme Apparatus Company, has pointed out, "an audio-frequency amplifying transformer may best be compared to a magnifying glass. Then if we compare our eye as the loud speaker, we have an exact analogy of the entire audio amplifying system of the radio receiver. No matter how perfect our eyesight may be, if he look through a defective magnifying glass the view is blurred or distorted."

"A loud speaker, no matter how fine and perfect, can not in the least correct the defects of poorly designed audio transformers. In order to get perfect reception both audio transformers and loud speaker must be perfect. Cheap magnifying glasses are subject to reproduce with astigmatism and spherical aberration, for which the better types of glasses are corrected. Likewise cheap transformers have a tendency to but faintly amplify the low bass notes and strongly amplify the high notes. The net result is a tinny sound reproduction much similar to a cheap phonograph, and which is often blamed on the loud speaker. A well designed transformer is so built that selective frequency amplification is impossible. One way of preventing this is the use of an air gap in the magnetic shell, which positively prevents saturation of the core. The proper arrangement of end turns and the winding can also do much to overcome distortion and resonance, which is the selecting of one frequency for extreme amplification at the expense of the other frequencies."

Mr. Cabot, in a recent interview, also stressed the importance of proper ratio in a transformer.

"Ratio of transformation talk is entirely misleading," he said. "Scientific research has proven that there is only one ratio of transformation for the best music and voice reproduction and, that ratio is 4:1 to 1:1. While higher ratios give more volume they also give more distortion. They have a tendency to greatly amplify the high frequencies more than the low, which gives a tinny nasal reproduction. Lower ratios than the ideal ratio approaches resistance coupling which gives little amplification and efficiency per tube. Do not be misled by ratio of transformation, because there is only one ratio for shielding is not necessary in audio-frequency transformer with an iron core, since this style of core effectively prevents interstage coupling. Magnetic shielding is sometimes used to cover defects in windings."

"Remarkable improvements in the efficiency of radio apparatus have been made recently. Keep the losses low in the apparatus which goes into a circuit, and the circuit will do the rest. Proper amplification and low losses go hand in hand."

New Broadcasting Sta. at Lansing is Opened

Today is the date set by Station WREO, Radio Motor Car Company, Lansing, Mich., for its inaugural radio program, the broadcasting to start at eight o'clock Eastern Standard time. This station with its high-powered equipment will "go on the air" at some time each day, with evening programs on Tuesday, Thursday, Saturday and Sunday.

When test programs were broadcast from WREO, communications were received from thirty-three states assuring the men in charge that they were "coming in fine." It is believed that Lansing has a strategic geographical location for broadcasting so that even less powerful sets any place in the United States will be able to tune in on the programs.

Pine Tar and Honey Still Best for Chest Colds and Coughs

Our mothers and grandmothers would never be without pine tar syrup in the house for coughs, chest colds, etc. This was many years ago, but modern medicine has never been able to improve on this time-tested remedy. Doctors say the pine tar is hard to beat for quickly loosening and removing the phlegm and congestion that are the actual cause of the cough. At the same time pine tar and honey soon soothe and heal all irritation and soreness.

The kind that has been used with never-failing success in thousands of families for years is that known as Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar Honey. This is scientifically compounded of just the right proportions of pine tar, honey and other quick-acting, healing ingredients which the best doctors have found to aid in quick relief. It contains absolutely no opiates, narcotics or harmful drugs, so can be given to your children—the for spasmodic croup. It tastes good, too. If you want the best, a medicine that often stops the severest cough overnight, be sure you get Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar Honey. It costs only 20c at any good drugstore.

Mrs. Crail Says Tanlac Is Without An Equal.

Mrs. Hattie Crail, a highly successful and popular practical nurse, 32nd and Douglas Sts., Des Moines, Iowa, is another among the many of her admirable profession to endorse the Tanlac treatment.

"Following a period of severe nervous prostration two years ago," declared Mrs. Crail recently, "I was so weak, restless and uncertain of my street alone. I suffered from violent headaches and dizzy spells, and again from a condition of extreme drowsiness. For a time I was compelled to give up my work.

"But with Tanlac my recovery was surprisingly rapid, and soon my nerves were entirely normal, the pains left my head, my appetite and digestion became perfect and I was strong enough to resume my work of nursing. In short, Tanlac built me up so I have enjoyed sound health ever since."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40 million bottles sold.

CAPTAIN BLOOD

By RAFAEL SABATINI

Copyrighted, 1923, by Rafael Sabatini.
"CAPTAIN BLOOD," a Vitaphone picture with J. Warren Kerrigan in the title role, is an adaptation of this thrilling novel.

Things had not sped at all well with him in the past fortnight, since his acceptance of the King's commission. There had been trouble with Bishop from the moment of landing. As Blood and Lord Julian had stepped ashore together they had been met by Colonel Bishop, who took no pains to disguise his chagrin at the turn of events and his determination to change it.

Blood's thoughts were upon this and other things as he lounged there on the day-bed. He had been a fortnight in Port Royal, his ship virtually a unit now in the Jamaica squadron. And when the news of it reached Tortuga and the buccanniers who awaited his return, the name of Captain Blood, which had stood so high among the Brethren of the Coast, would become a byword. And for what had he placed himself in this position? For the sake of a girl who avoided him so persistently and intentionally that he must assume that she still regarded him with aversion. Nor was that the worst of it. He was allowed plainly to perceive that it was the graceful, elegant young trifter from St. James's, Lord Julian Wade, to whom her every moment was devoted. What chance had he, a desperate adventurer with a record of outlawry, against such a rival as that? A man of parts, moreover, as he was bound to admit?

A boat that had approached un-

"I beg that you will let me pass," noticed from the shore came scraping and bumping against the great red hull of the Arabella. Captain Blood rose, tall, active and arrestingly elegant in a scarlet, gold-laced coat that advertised his new position.

"A note for you from the Deputy Governor," said Jeremy Pitt shortly, as he proffered a folded sheet.

Blood broke the seal and read. "It is a very peremptory summons," he said, and passed the note to his friend.

The young master's grey eyes skimmed it.

"You'll not go?" he said, between question and assertion. Why did ye let Wolverstones and the others go?" he cried, with a touch of bitterness. "You should have seen the danger."

"How could I in honesty have detained them? It was in the bargain. Besides, how could their staying have helped me?" And as Pitt did not answer him: "Ye see?" he said, and shrugged. "I'll be getting my hat and cane and sword, and go ashore in the cock boat. See it manned for me."

"Ye're going to deliver yourself into Bishop's hands," Pitt warned him.

Blood knew as well as Pitt that he was going ashore that morning he carried his life in his hands. Walking leisurely, he skirted the embattled wall and passed through the great gates into the courtyard. On his right stretched a spacious garden, beyond which rose the white house that was the residence of the Deputy-Governor. In that garden's main avenue, that was fringed with palm and sandalwood, he had caught sight of Miss Bishop alone. He crossed the courtyard with suddenly lengthened stride.

"Good morning to ye, ma'am," was his greeting as he overtook her; and, hat in hand now, he added on a note of protest: "Sure, it's nothing less than uncharitable to make me run in this heat."

"Why do you run, then?" she asked him coolly, standing still and straight before him, all in white and very markedly save in her unnatural complexion. "I am pressed," she informed him. "So you will forgive me if I do not stay."

"You were none so pressed until I came."

"Since you perceive it, sir, I wonder that you trouble to be so insistent."

That crossed the swords between them, and it was against Blood's instincts to avoid an engagement.

"Faith, you explain yourself after a fashion," said he. "But, since it was more or less in your service that I donned the King's coat, you should suffer it to cover the thief and pirate."

She shrugged and turned aside, in some resentment and some regret. Fearing to betray the latter, she took refuge in the former. "I do my best," said she.

"So that ye can be charitable in some ways!" He laughed softly. "Glory be, now, I should be thankful for so much. Maybe I'm presumptuous. But I can't forget that when I was no better than a slave in your uncle's household in Barbados, ye used me with a certain kindness."

"Why not? In those days you had some claim upon my kindness. You were just an unfortunate gentleman then."

"And what else would you be calling me now?"

"Hardly unfortunate. We have heard of your good fortune on the seas; how your luck has passed into a byword. And we have heard other things of your good fortune in other directions."

She spoke hastily, the thought of Mademoiselle d'Ogeron in her mind. And instantly would have recalled the words had she been able. But Peter Blood swept them lightly aside, reading into them none of her meaning, as she feared he would.

"Aye, a deal of lies, devil a doubt, as I could prove to you."

"I cannot think why you should trouble to put yourself on your defense," she discouraged him.

"So that ye may think less badly of me than you do."

"What I think of you can be a very little matter to you, sir."

"Can ye say that now? Can ye say that, beholding me in this liver of a service I despise? Didn't ye tell me that I might redeem the past? It's little enough I am concerned to redeem the past save only in your eyes. In my own I've done nothing at all that I am ashamed of, considering the provocation I received."

"I—I can't think why you should speak to me like this," she said, with less than her earlier assurance.

"Ah, now, can't ye, indeed?" he cried. "Sure, then, I'll be telling ye."

"Oh, please!" There was real alarm in her voice. "I realize fully what you did, and I realize that partly, at least, you may have been urged by consideration for myself. Believe me, I am very grateful. I shall always be grateful."

"But if it's also your intention always to think of me as a thief and a pirate, faith, ye may keep your gratitude for all the good it's like to do me."

A livelier color crept into her cheeks. But, if she resented his tone and his words, she stifled her resentment. She realized that perhaps she had herself provoked his anger. She honestly desired to make amends.

"You are mistaken," she began.

"It isn't that."

"What is it, then?" gooth he, and added the question: "Lord Julian? Ooh, be frank with me," he urged her, unpardonably. "I'll be a kindness, so it will."

"You—you are quite insufferable," she said. "I beg that you will let me pass."

"I'll not be detaining you any longer, madam. After all, the cursed thing I did for nothing can be undone. Ye'll remember afterwards that it was your hardness drove me."

"You take that tone! You dare to take that tone!" she cried, availing herself of his sudden vehemence. "You have the audacity to upbraid me because I will not take your hands when I know how they are stained, when I know you for a murderer and worse?"

"A murderer—?" he said at last. "Must I name your victims?"

"Levasseur?" He smiled a little. "So they've told you about that?"

"Do you deny it?"

"I killed him, it is true. I can remember killing another man in circumstances that were very similar. That was in Bridgetown on the night of the Spanish raid. Mary Trull would tell you of it. She was present."

He clasped his hat on his head with a certain abrupt fierceness, and strode angrily away, before she could answer or even grasp the full significance of what he had said.

POPULAR IDEA OF ARTIST ALL IN ERROR: HALE

Chicago, Nov. 10.—The popular conception of the artist as a chap in a velvet tam-o-shanter and spotless smock dashing off a finished painting in a couple of hours is all wrong, according to Philip L. Hale, the well known painter. Mr. Hale, son of the author, states that first of all the artist must have an idea, and when he has that idea he must think it over and experiment with it until he finds a way of saying just exactly what he wants to express.

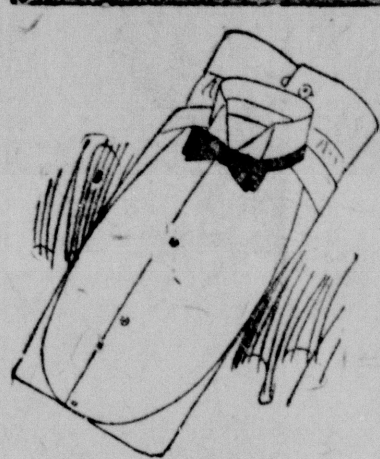

"When I make a picture, I first draw a whole series of preliminary pen-and-ink sketches and reduce them in size until I have a tiny thumb-nail sketch that shows up the relations of the light and dark masses in the picture much better than a larger sketch," he says. "Then I work backward, making more sketches and increasing them in size again, until finally I know just what I want to do when I take up brushes and paints." The old method of learning to paint by copying other men's pictures has gone out of style, Mr. Hale asserts, but he reverses this, and has an aid to young students who find themselves awed and confused when they first try to paint direct from nature. By copying the works of older men who have mastered the secret of arrangement and selection, the student learns how to avoid confusion and pick out essentials for his own compositions.

The brilliancy of color which many paintings by old masters have retained after hundreds of years is explained by Mr. Hale. "It was the action of most of the earlier painters to apply an undercoating of pigment to their canvases before they began to paint the picture. The brothers Van Eyck, among the earliest of painters in oil, painted over a white ground. In the course of years their colors naturally grew darker at the same time the white ground came to show through and counteracted this darkening, so that today the paintings of the Van Eycks and others of their school retain all their freshness of color, while other pictures, more recently painted, are dull and lifeless."

On the west coast of Africa canned whale meat has become an established commodity.

The WELL-DRESSED MAN By BEAUNASH

Correct Clothes To Meet The Obligation Of Every Occasion.

Snowy Linen

It is quite natural that the incidents of Tuxedo dress should vary widely, for the same rigid rules which apply to ceremonious evening clothes (full dress) are not enforced in semi-formal dress. Here, the whim of the wearer has freer scope. All that fashion decrees is that a man shall stick unwaveringly to the two primary colors—black and white. No others are allowed, except, perhaps, very dark gray which shades into black. As a matter of fact, a Tuxedo suit should be chosen under electric light, not by daylight, so that its exact tint may be accurately determined.

The details of informal evening dress, illustrated here, interpret the best of good taste, though they need not be followed to the degree of that man who "could distinguish and divide a hair 'twixt south and southwest side." For example, instead of the broad, straight tie, you may select the batwing or butterfly bow. Instead of the starched shirt bosom, you may choose the limply starched or semi-stiff bosom. Instead of the square cuffs, you may like those which are rounded off a trifle. Instead of the high collar with large tabs, you may fancy one that is lower and has smaller tabs. Such things are an affair of preference, not propriety. What you look best in is best for you to wear.

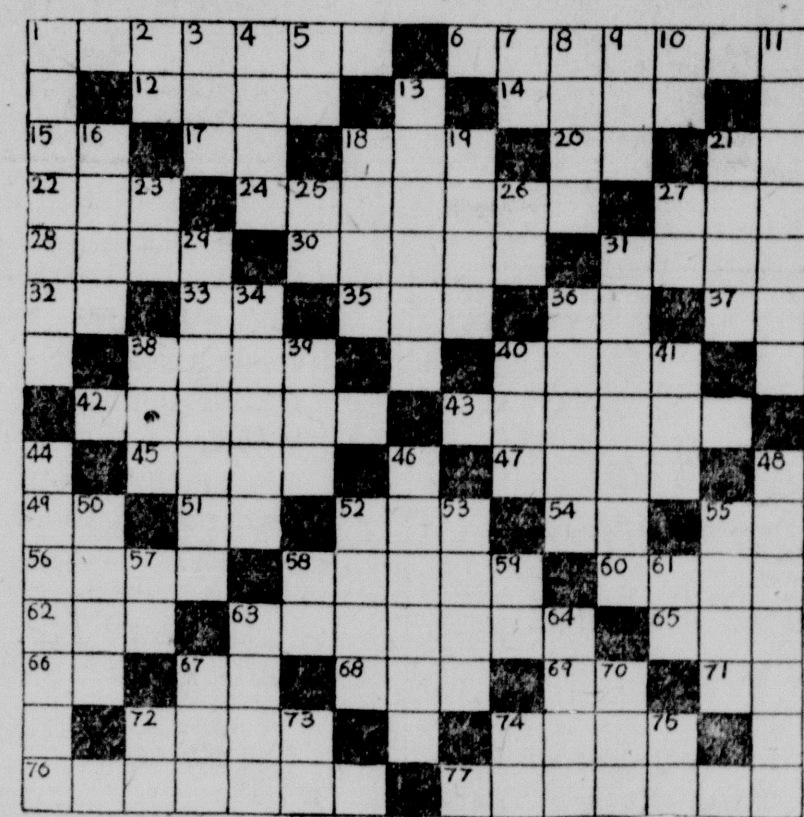

Likewise, some men prefer the shirt with a single stud to that having two. If so, the waistcoat should be cut higher, so that the shirt-front will lie flat, stand of bulging or gaping, always the danger in using the solitaire button.

It is an oft-told tale which cannot be re-told too often that the turn-down or double-fold collar is not correct with Tuxedo dress. It is a daytime and lounge style, not an evening collar. Never wear it out of its place. Evening shirts of fine linen or cotton may be perfectly plain or may have delicate traceries, scrolls or cords woven into the bosom. The finest evening shirt, difficult to obtain, has a bosom and cuffs of linen, whilst the body is of luxurious China silk.

The Affair at Lower Acres by TONEY CAREY WELLS

© 1924 by NEA Service Inc.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Douglas Raynor is found shot through the heart in the early evening on the floor of the sun room of Lower Acres, his Long Island home. Standing over the dead man, pistol in hand, is Malcolm Finley, former sweetheart of Raynor's wife, Nancy. Eva Turner, Raynor's nurse, stands by the light switch. Then Nancy, Raynor's sister, and others, enter the room. Lionel Raynor, son of Douglas Raynor by first marriage, comes to claim his father's estate. Nurse Turner confesses to attempting to poison Douglas Raynor out of revenge. Pennington Wise, a celebrated detective, and his girl assistant, Zizi, are called to take the case out of the hands of Detective Dubbins. Wise tells Orville Kent that an outsider is suspected of the murder because of the print of an over shoe found on the floor of the sun room.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

"Is that really a clew?"

"It's a sort of a negative clew. I have made most careful search and I have found in the house no rubbers that can be made to fit that print."

"Supposing I did it—and threw away my rubbers—"

"Where did you throw them?"

"Why—why—I don't know—"

"All right—where would you choose to throw them?"

"In the rubbish can, I suppose."

And Kent looked so blank that Zizi smiled at his utter lack of ingenuity.

Now, as to the time; once more,"

Wise said: "What do you know of the time from your own observation regarding that moment of the crime?"

"What do you mean, exactly?"

"I mean, from tea-time until after you knew that Douglas Raynor had been shot, did you look at your own watch?"

"Not that I remember."

"Yet I think you testified that you stood on the bridge with Miss Fay at seven o'clock."

"Oh, yes, I did. She said it was seven, and she must hurry home, as her mother would be expecting her. So she went home, and I came back up the hill to this house."

"Reaching here to find Raynor shot and the others standing about in consternation?"

"Yes."

"Oh, Mr. Kent, you are forgetting your story of shooting him yourself!"

Zizi cried this out.

Kent did not smile—he looked troubled, and said earnestly, "But you tell me, Mr. Wise, that my sister will not be arrested if she is innocent."

"I did not say arrested—I said convicted. However, I do not think she will even be arrested. So, as I said, wait 24 hours before you make public this rather bewildering story of your own guilt. We have pretty well proved that the shot was fired at five minutes before seven. You were then on the bridge with Miss Fay. Now when you see your sister in such dire danger that you feel necessary to take over her guilt, and claim it for yourself, it will be time enough to make your confession. But for heaven's sake get it bolted up into shape so that at least Dubbins will believe it."

"Will you let me know, Mr. Wise, if or when you see matters so tending toward my sister that she is in danger?"

"In order that you may make your fake confession?"

Kent nodded.

"I'll promise this—Mr. Kent, I'll promise to tell you first of all, when I have learned the identity of the real criminal. And I will tell you within the 24 hours."

"I know what all that Kent man."

Zizi said as they walked away into the gardens. "He has no sense of humor."

least will prove that he has suppressed or destroyed it."

"It might be a good thing," Wise said, meditatively. "I know your powers in that direction, Zizi—I mean in carrying out a scheme of that sort, and I say, go ahead. But do it now."

"Yes, tonight. And I don't want any help."

"Late, I suppose."

"Yes; well after midnight."

And that's how it happened that very late that night, about half-past two, a slim little figure stood in front of a mirror and draped itself with a multitude of gauzy gray draperies that floated and waved at a breath or a motion.

Zizi's head and shoulders as well as her tiny body were covered with the misty veils and the cow-shaped hood came well over her forehead. Her make-up box had turned her face chalky white, her lips were pale, but her eyes were not only rimmed with black shadows, but a tiny touch of phosphorus on her eyebrows gave an unearthly glow that was suggestive of the infernal.

Unseen, the gray figure gilded along the hall and paused at the door of Lionel Raynor's room.

Listening a moment, Zizi heard no sound save the regular breathing of a sound sleeper, and softly turning the knob she entered the

IN THE FAINTEST OF TONES SHE SAID, "FEAR NOT—NO HARM SHALL TOUCH YOU—IF—IF—"

"He's not the sort of chap who frightens easily—"

"Not by mere words—I know. But, I say, Penny—I've an idea, of course, you won't agree to it—and yet—if you should—I'm sure—I'm positive it would succeed—oh, Penny, haven't I?"

"Well, since you state your plan so clearly, I can't help agreeing that it is a capital suggestion!"

"Oh, I forgot I haven't told you the plan yet. And, by the way, Pen, did you notice a most important item when you gazed on that picture of Miss Dolly Fay?"

"No; oh, seeress, what was it?"

"I'll check it up first—I may be wrong—but if it should be, and—yes, it must be, it's quite in keeping—"

"Zizi, stop that! It's growing on you, that habit of babbling on like an imbecile—"

"Not an imbecile, dear, merely a thoughtful person ruminating aloud."

"Get back to your plan of extracting the Raynor will from the Lionel proposition."

"All right. My idea is to scare him into fits!"

"Lovely! And then?"

"Then? Why, then, he'll give up the will!"

"To you?"

"Surely!"

"And the scaring procedure?"

Zizi leaned toward Wise and whispered, "Ghosts!"

"You're crazy!"

"No, I'm not. I happened to learn that Lionel Raynor is more or less of a spiritualist—or, rather, that he believes in spirits and is mortally afraid of them. Now, I'll give him a manifestation that if it doesn't persuade him to give up that will, at

Even when the eyes turned on him, and he saw merely two small blurs of flickering light—Zizi was too much of an artist to overdo the phosphorus—it seemed that at last a true ghost had appeared to him, and Lionel Raynor gave way to paroxysms of fear.

He writhed, he mumbled, he clutched at the bedclothes, and the watchful Zizi saw that there was danger of the man's going into convulsions.

In the faintest of tones she said: "Fear not—fear not—no harm shall touch you—if—if—if—"

NORTH POLE ONLY ONE OF SIX BIG SHIPS MAY SEE

Earth Has Five Other
Poles Not So Well Known as North.

Washington, D. C.—The earth has at least six well-known poles, in three groups of twos, only one of which, the North Pole, is known to the world. The other five are the South Pole, the North Magnetic Pole, the South Magnetic Pole, the North Geographic Pole, and the South Geographic Pole.

The most talked of member of the family is the North Pole. Enthroned at the top of the earth where the latitude becomes 90 degrees, and the meridians of longitude converge, it has received only one visit in all time. Rear Admiral Robert E. Peary, with his retinue of Eskimo attendants, spent a few hours in its frigid presence and took notes on its strange and weird life.

Nature's Remote Refrigerator
Scientists tell us that this refrigerating plant, installed and operated solely by nature, never fails to register below the freezing point of fresh water even during July, and that its mean temperature in winter is about that of some of the Montana cold snaps.

Even Old Sol, when he returns to the North, has been unsuccessful in breaking up the plant, though at the summer solstice he pours out larger amounts of rays than at any other part of the earth's surface except at the corresponding point in the South. If he didn't have to keep moving he soon would make the Arctic ice-cap the hottest region on the earth's surface, but he only succeeds in melting some of the surface ice. In honor, or defiance, of his visit, day light lasts for six months, but his mildity, cloudiness and precipitation near the beauty of his rays on the crystals of the snow palace.

When he leaves and night sets in, fantastic lighting effects, which shame those of New York's Great White Way, are brought into play. The northern part of the sky is illuminated by an arch of whitish, greenish, or rosy light from which streamers of white or colored light go trailing across the heavens. This effect is called the aurora borealis.

"Though the North Pole can never leave its kingdom and has been rigidly bound down by nature, it does manage to shift about in a circle about 50 feet in diameter. This restlessness causes a corresponding variability in terrestrial latitudes.

One Caller in a Million Years
When Admiral Peary stood on the top point of the earth, he was actually being turned around only once in 24 hours with the rotation of the earth. As he simply lingered for a few hours he made only a small part of a revolution—a pace which is not conducive to dizziness. A man in the city of Quito, Ecuador, on the Equator, during the same time, was being whirled along through an immense circle at the rate of about 1,000 miles an hour.

The other monarch of the world's ice lands is the South Pole, twin of the North Pole. Though there is all the distance in the world between them, in the main, the surroundings are duplicated. The arrangement of land and water in their respective spheres of influence is somewhat different; the Southern, a land zone surrounded by a wide belt of open sea, and the Northern, a water body surrounded by continental land masses. The Southern monarch likes his summers colder; in fact so cold are summers and so regular the winds that there is practically no plant life of even the most insignificant kind on the Antarctic Continent. He is also less exclusive than his brother of the North, having received two earthly travelers within his portals—Captain Roald Amundsen and Capt.

Robert F. Scott, but from the latter he exacted a death penalty.

"The North and South Magnetic Poles, located more than a thousand miles from the true North and South Poles toward Hudson Bay and New Zealand, are the elusive members of the polar family. The North Magnetic Pole makes the compass needle stand straight on its point and the South Magnetic Pole makes it stand on its foot, and they both play tricks with all sorts of metal instruments by magnetizing or demagnetizing their parts.

Why Compass Swerves From North
When John Jones travels through the northern Wisconsin or Minnesota woods solely with the aid of his compass, he cannot go directly north unless he travels a little west of the direction in which his compass points, because of its affinity for the North Magnetic Pole.

"The explanation of the magnetic poles is that the earth itself is a magnet, made so probably by the electric currents passing around it in an east-west direction. Both these poles are wanderers within a prescribed area.

"The Poles of Cold are the Ishmaels and Hagar of the Polar family—outcasts, both erratic and disagreeable. They reside in the places where the cold is most intense, usually in the interior of a continent. Though the North Pole has the coldest mean annual temperature, there is a desert of ice in the interior of Greenland which is the coldest part of the northern hemisphere in July. Verkhoyansk, in northeastern Siberia, on the fringe of the Arctic Circle is colder in January than the North Pole itself. It even boasts a record of 94 degrees Fahrenheit. During February Fort Conger, Grinnell Land, on Ellesmere Island in the Arctic, claims the honor, with a mean temperature for February of about minus 40 degrees Fahrenheit."

LETTER FROM SALLY ATHON TO BEATRICE SUMMERS, CONTINUED

Leslie left little Jack here and I am sure that the only communication Mr. Prescott had from her was when she wired for him to send the baby on to her in care of Sara.

I expect, however, that everything is made up between them now for Mr. Prescott has already sent in his resignation and he has offered me a splendid position at the steel plant. I shall have full charge of the stock promotion and advertising. It is the same job Sam had with Mr. Hamilton, so you see I know a great deal about it already.

For the first time in my life I will be able to run a big department just as I wish and as the pay is even larger than it was when Sam had it, I think I can say I have proved myself a successful business woman if not a successful wife.

I sometimes wonder, Bee, if one can be both.

How are you getting along out there among the super-Bethlehems? I am smiling as I ask this question, for of all queer places for you to settle down the moving picture capital is the queerest—if all they say of it be true.

I saw Paula Perier's latest picture the other night, and I want to tell you how interested I am in her. She was much better than the story, which was "piffle." Does Miss Perier always have that sadness lurking in her eyes?

I would very much like to hear her story—her real story—not the dub-dub that is written about her by her press agent. She certainly can plumb depths of emotion that those bits of floss we usually see on the screen only just skim. You literally see the working of her mind and the throbbing of her heart. Tell me about her. I am interested.

Leslie's friend, Ruth Ellington, is here and seems very happy with her new husband, Walter Burke.

It is strange, isn't it, that I who seldom like women any so interested in these two women who do not like me. I never saw Miss Perier but once and then she glared at me from those great eyes of hers in a way that made me think that she would like to murder me, or at least send me to some distant prison for life.

Mrs. Burke never sees me if she can help it. However, I have found that my liking of people can never be reasoned out. I like them or dislike them regardless of how they treat me.

By the way, Bee, did I ever talk or write to you about a young man, a cousin of Sam's, who was uncommonly kind to both of us when Sam was recovering his eyesight? When he first went back to work, this chap, Jimmie Condon, was Sam's secretary.

For a while he thought he was in love with me. You see, I was that inevitable older woman to whom he gave the usual boy's first adoration. I tried, honestly I tried, to be kind to him. I wanted to make him into something that another and younger woman might love and be happy with, for I have always thought that the woman a boy first falls in love with is the one who most unerringly shapes his life.

I do not like, however, to think this is true for I certainly do not want to be blamed for what has just happened.

Nation-Wide Rallies of Christian Church Planned

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 10.—Representative members and preachers of Christian churches in twenty-two central Illinois counties gathered here today in the first of the nation-wide fall rallies conducted by the United Christian Missionary Society.

Throughout the country similar rallies will continue until Nov. 22. Approximately four hundred people were here. Discussions led by Vice President S. J. Corey of missionary society and Dr. M. L. Pontius, Jacksonville, Ill., of the Christian church board of education, concerned all the activities of the church.
